If there is no new participant in the group, you can skip slides 1-13 (start at slide 14)!
Metacognitive Training (MCT)
Metacognitive Training (MCT)

meta →

derived from Greek, means “about”
Metacognitive Training (MCT)

meta →

derived from Greek, means “about”

cognition →

derived from Latin, means “thinking”
Metacognitive Training (MCT)

meta →

derived from Greek, means “about”

cognition →

derived from Latin, means “thinking”

metacognition →

“thinking about thinking”
B-MCT

Metacognitive training for BPD (B-MCT) is a therapeutic approach that deals with thoughts and thought processes.

The training is designed to …

- impart knowledge about your own thought processes and
- make you aware of typical thought distortions and how to change these

Thought distortion: unfavorable way of taking in and processing information from the environment that can lead to developing or maintaining mental problems (e.g., always rejecting the positive).
On the highway, the driver behind you hassles you by flashing his high beams.

What possible thoughts can come up in reaction?
On the highway, the driver behind you hassles you by flashing his high beams.

Possible thoughts

| response / thoughts? | response / thoughts? | response / thoughts? |
On the highway, the driver behind you hassles you by flashing his high beams.

Possible thoughts

- “What the heck! Who does he think he is? I'll teach him a lesson! I'll slow down!”
- “The world is full of people like this. Fussing now won't help!”
- “I really am too slow and not paying attention! Maybe I should quit driving.”

One event – many possible emotions… What leads to the different reactions?
On the highway, the driver behind you hassles you by flashing his high beams.

Possible thoughts

- “What the heck! Who does he think he is? I'll teach him a lesson! I'll slow down!”
- “The world is full of people like this. Fussing now won't help!”
- “I really am too slow and not paying attention! Maybe I should quit driving.”

What possible emotions can come up with these thoughts?
On the highway, the driver behind you hassles you by flashing his high beams.

Possible thoughts

- “What the heck! Who does he think he is? I’ll teach him a lesson! I’ll slow down!”
- “The world is full of people like this. Fussing now won’t help!”
- “I really am too slow and not paying attention! Maybe I should quit driving.”

Possible emotions

- angry
- relaxed
- sad
On the highway, the driver behind you hassles you by flashing his high beams.

Possible thoughts

- "What the heck! Who does he think he is? I'll teach him a lesson! I'll slow down!"
- "The world is full of people like this. Fussing now won't help!"
- "I really am too slow and not paying attention! Maybe I should quit driving."

Possible emotions

- angry
- relaxed
- sad

What possible behavioral reactions could result from each case?
On the highway, the driver behind you hassles you by flashing his high beams.

Possible emotions

- angry
  - brake to scare him, provoke an accident
- relaxed
  - not get unnerved, drive on
- sad
  - let him go around, let him unsettle you

Possible thoughts

- "What the heck! Who does he think he is? I’ll teach him a lesson! I’ll slow down!"
- "The world is full of people like this. Fussing now won’t help!"
- "I really am too slow and not paying attention! Maybe I should quit driving."

One event – many possible emotions…

What leads to the different reactions?
Welcome to

Training Module:

Think Pink -

Discover the Positive

The use of the pictures in this module has been kindly permitted by artists and copyright holders, respectively. For details (artist, title), please refer to the end of this presentation.
Rejecting the positive

???
Rejecting the positive

• Denial of positive experiences
• Regarding positive experiences as exceptions

“Stop Sign” by Kt Ann

Hautzinger, 2003
Rejection of positive feedback

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Rejection of the positive feedback</th>
<th>More helpful response</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>You are given credit for your performance!</td>
<td>???</td>
<td>???</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>???</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Event</td>
<td>Rejection of the positive More helpful response</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>--------------------------------------------</td>
<td>-------------------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>You are given credit for your performance!</td>
<td>“The other person is just trying to flatter me, that’s dishonest.” “Only he/she sees it that way.” ???</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Rejection of positive feedback

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Rejection of the positive feedback</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>You are given credit for your performance!</td>
<td>“The other person is just trying to flatter me, that’s dishonest.” “Only he/she sees it that way.”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>“Great that someone acknowledges my achievements!”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Event</td>
<td>Rejection of the positive feedback</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>--------------------------------------------</td>
<td>---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>You are given credit for your performance!</td>
<td>“The other person is just trying to flatter me, that’s dishonest.” “Only he/she sees it that way.”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>“Great that someone acknowledges my achievements!”</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Taking credit is often very hard, especially when it doesn’t match our self-perception.
When do you compliment others?

- ... when someone did something well
- ... when someone really made an effort – regardless of the result
- ... when you want to motivate someone to further deeds
- ... when you want to brighten someone’s day
- ...

"thumbs up" by Reid.
How can I become better at accepting compliments?

- Remember: Generally, people want to be nice and make you happy when they compliment you.

- If you turn down the compliment, it is as if you said: “I don’t like your present – I don’t want it.”
How can I become better at accepting compliments?

Express happiness at the compliment

➔ Even if you don’t think you look especially good right now – someone else seems to think so!
How can I become better at accepting compliments?

Express happiness at the compliment

→ Even if you don’t think you look especially good right now – someone else seems to think so!

Never turn down a compliment

→ Do not react with disparaging remarks about yourself, or give a compliment back to deflect attention from yourself. Instead, “bear the compliment.”
Express happiness at the compliment

→ Even if you don’t think you look especially good right now – someone else seems to think so!

Never turn down a compliment

→ Do not react with disparaging remarks about yourself, or give a compliment back to deflect attention from yourself. Instead, “bear the compliment.”

Coherence

→ Do your words match your tone, facial expression, and gestures?
Video clip: “Validation” (Kurt Kuenne)

http://www.youtube.com/user/AGNeuropsychologie
Brighten other people’s day and consciously compliment them.
(e.g.: “Great, how you took care of...”, “Awesome, the way you stayed with it”, “I really admire you for...”)

→ Might that improve your mood too?!
Brighten other people’s day and consciously compliment them.
(e.g.: “Great, how you took care of...”, “Awesome, the way you stayed with it”, “I really admire you for...”)

→ Might that improve your mood too?!

What should we keep in mind about that?
Compliments are most effective when...

... you compliment the person right away in the respective situation
... they are related to a concrete event
... they are well-founded
Brighten other people’s day and consciously compliment them.
(e.g.: “Great, how you took care of...”, “Awesome, the way you stayed with it”, “I really admire you for...”)

→ Might that improve your mood too?!

What should we keep in mind about that?
Compliments are most effective when...
  ... you compliment the person right away in the respective situation
  ... they are related to a concrete event
  ... they are well-founded

Practice a more conscious handling of compliments.

And: As a next step, look out for good things about yourself.
Brighten other people’s day and consciously compliment them.
(e.g.: “Great, how you took care of...”, “Awesome, the way you stayed with it”, “I really admire you for...”)

→ Might that improve your mood too?!

What should we keep in mind about that?
Compliments are most effective when...
... you compliment the person right away in the respective situation
... they are related to a concrete event
... they are well-founded

Practice a more conscious handling of compliments.

And: As a next step, look out for good things about yourself.

“Blossom 4” by treehouse1977
Accepting negative feedback

???
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Uncritical acceptance of the negative</th>
<th>More helpful response</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>You get criticized for something!</td>
<td>???</td>
<td>???</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Event</td>
<td>Uncritical acceptance of the negative feedback</td>
<td>More helpful response</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-------------------------------</td>
<td>-----------------------------------------------</td>
<td>-----------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>You get criticized for something!</td>
<td>“I’ve been exposed, I am worthless…”</td>
<td>???</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

“Stop Sign” by Kt Ann
Accepting negative feedback

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Uncritical acceptance of the negative event</th>
<th>More helpful response</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>You get criticized for something!</td>
<td>“I’ve been exposed, I am worthless…”</td>
<td>“The other person might have had a bad day.”; “Can I benefit from the feedback?”</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
How can I become better at handling negative feedback?

“Auge in Nahaufnahme” by Alphaundomikron
How can I become better at handling negative feedback?

- Take a more balanced view of criticism
  Maybe some aspects of it are true, and I already know it about myself. What else is there to learn?
How can I become better at handling negative feedback?

- Take a more balanced view of criticism
  Maybe some aspects of it are true, and I already know it about myself. What else is there to learn?

- No over-generalization
  One particular behavior that I have shown is meant here – not my whole person.
How can I become better at handling negative feedback?

- Take a more balanced view of criticism
  Maybe some aspects of it are true, and I already know it about myself. What else is there to learn?

- No over-generalization
  One particular behavior that I have shown is meant here – not my whole person

- Look at the future
  If it comes to such a situation again - how would you want to handle the situation
Why do we do this?

Many [but not all!] people with BPD tend to concentrate their attention on negative information.

→ This can significantly worsen mood and well-being.
Be aware of your strengths

• Instead of focusing on your weaknesses, emphasize your strengths.

• Every human being has strengths that he or she can take pride in and are not shared by everyone… They do not have to be world records or famous inventions!
1. Think about your own strengths:

What abilities do I have? What have I received compliments for in the past?

e.g., “I am technically talented…”
1. Think about your own strengths:

What abilities do I have? What have I received compliments for in the past?

E.g., “I am technically talented…”

2. Imagine specific situations.

When and were? What have I done and who has provided feedback?

E.g., “Last week, I helped a friend decorate her apartment. I was a great help to her…”
1. Think about your own strengths:

What abilities do I have? What have I received compliments for in the past?

E.g., “I am technically talented…”

2. Imagine specific situations.

When and were? What have I done and who has provided feedback?

E.g., “Last week, I helped a friend decorate her apartment. I was a great help to her…”

3. Write it down!

Read this regularly and expand. When in crisis, go back to these memories

(E.g., when you think you are worthless).

Write down things that went well, or compliments you received…
Be aware of your strengths

Alternatively:

• What would others say are your strengths?
• Ask good friends what your strengths are (preferably let them write them down).
Now on to something different!

“vol au vent...“ by Biscarotte
an emotional state of discomfort that results from holding many different conflicting thoughts, beliefs, desires, or intentions at the same time.
“Cognitive dissonance”

According to Festinger

= an emotional state of discomfort that results from holding many different conflicting thoughts, beliefs, desires, or intentions at the same time.

→ a sort of “troubled feeling” develops

(Latin: dis = “different, separate” and sonare = “to sound”)
Example

A: I play a lot of sports.
B: I really enjoy sports.
→ A and B match (= consonant).

A: I smoke a lot.
B: Smoking damages your health.
→ A and B do not match (= dissonant).
“Cognitive dissonance”

Also arises when...

- you made a decision even though the alternatives were tempting too (e.g., at the restaurant, while shopping)
- you made a decision that turns out to be wrong
- you worked very hard and then find out that your goal doesn’t measure up to your expectations
Because cognitive dissonance is experienced as unpleasant, you try to reconcile conflicting information:

- Either you change the belief to match the behavior ("Smoking isn’t that bad") or
- You change the behavior to match the belief (e.g., by quitting smoking)

Mental “conciliation” reduces tension and increases contentment.
Conflicting thoughts – Example 1

Situation: starting a new job

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Thoughts</th>
<th>Emotions</th>
<th>Behavior</th>
<th>Long-term effects</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>“They are giving me strange looks, they seem to dislike me.”</td>
<td>??</td>
<td>??</td>
<td>??</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and at the same time:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“I am dependent on their support, I need them to like me.”</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Situation: starting a new job

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Thoughts</th>
<th>Emotions</th>
<th>Behavior</th>
<th>Long-term effects</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>“They are giving me strange looks, they seem to dislike me.”</td>
<td>uncertainty, sadness, anger, suspiciousness</td>
<td>???</td>
<td>???</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and at the same time:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“I am dependent on their support, I need them to like me.”</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Situation: starting a new job

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Thoughts</th>
<th>Emotions</th>
<th>Behavior</th>
<th>Long-term effects</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>“They are giving me strange looks, they seem to dislike me.”</td>
<td>uncertainty, sadness, anger, suspiciousness</td>
<td>You hover between approaching and isolating</td>
<td>???</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and at the same time:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“I am dependent on their support, I need them to like me.”</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Conflicting thoughts – Example 1

Situation: starting a new job

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Thoughts</th>
<th>Emotions</th>
<th>Behavior</th>
<th>Long-term effects</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>“They are giving me strange looks, they seem to dislike me.”</td>
<td>uncertainty, sadness, anger, suspiciousness</td>
<td>You hover between approaching and isolating</td>
<td>You still try to present yourself in a nice way and are therefore constantly stressed and/or have difficulties associating</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and at the same time:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“I am dependent on their support, I need them to like me.”</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
- Question whether the conflicting thoughts are realistic!
  (e.g., “Will no one actually like me?”)
Resolving conflicts – What to do?

- Question whether the conflicting thoughts are realistic!
  (e.g., “Will no one actually like me?”)

- Add positive thoughts!
  Examples: ???
Resolving conflicts – What to do?

- Question whether the conflicting thoughts are realistic!
  (e.g., “Will no one actually like me?”)

- Add positive thoughts!
  Examples: “I might not know anyone here yet, but that is going to change. There must be someone I can get along with. Those things have always worked out in the past.”
Resolving conflicts – What to do?

- Question whether the conflicting thoughts are realistic!
  (e.g., “Will no one actually like me?”)

- Add positive thoughts!
  Examples: “I might not know anyone here yet, but that is going to change. There must be someone I can get along with. Those things have always worked out in the past.”

- Consciously discover something positive about the situation!
  Examples: ???
Resolving conflicts – What to do?

- Question whether the conflicting thoughts are realistic!
  (e.g., “Will no one actually like me?”)

- Add positive thoughts!
  Examples: “I might not know anyone here yet, but that is going to change. There must be someone I can get along with. Those things have always worked out in the past.”

- Consciously discover something positive about the situation!
  Examples: “The situation is exciting and new, I have the opportunity to meet entirely new people. I can practice acting more confident.”
Resolving conflicts – What to do?

- Question whether the conflicting thoughts are realistic!
  (e.g., “Will no one actually like me?”)

- Add positive thoughts!
  Examples: “I might not know anyone here yet, but that is going to change. There must be someone I can get along with. Those things have always worked out in the past.”

- Consciously discover something positive about the situation!
  Examples: “The situation is exciting and new, I have the opportunity to meet entirely new people. I can practice acting more confident.”

- The power of the conflict decreases and therefore the discomforting emotional state gets better.
Conflicting thoughts – Example 2

Situation: You are unable to solve a computer problem.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Thoughts</th>
<th>Emotions</th>
<th>Behavior</th>
<th>Long-term effects</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>“I am good with computers.”</td>
<td>???</td>
<td>???</td>
<td>???</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>vs.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“I can’t solve this computer problem.”</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Situation: You are unable to solve a computer problem.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Thoughts</th>
<th>Emotions</th>
<th>Behavior</th>
<th>Long-term effects</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>“I am good with computers.”</td>
<td>anger or frustration</td>
<td>???</td>
<td>???</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>vs.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“I can’t solve this computer problem.”</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Thoughts

1. “I am good with computers.”
2. “I can’t solve this computer problem.”

Emotions

1. Anger or frustration

Behavior

1. ???

Long-term effects

1. ???
Conflicting thoughts – Example 2

Situation: You are unable to solve a computer problem.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Thoughts</th>
<th>Emotions</th>
<th>Behavior</th>
<th>Long-term effects</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>“I am good with computers.”</td>
<td>anger or</td>
<td>e.g., yelling at someone or immediately giving up trying to solve the problem</td>
<td>???</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>vs.</td>
<td>frustration</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“I can’t solve this computer problem.”</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Conflicting thoughts – Example 2

Situation: You are unable to solve a computer problem.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Thoughts</th>
<th>Emotions</th>
<th>Behavior</th>
<th>Long-term effects</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>“I am good with computers.” vs. “I can’t solve this computer problem.”</td>
<td>anger or frustration</td>
<td>e.g., yelling at someone or immediately giving up trying to solve the problem</td>
<td>The self-perception is entirely conditioned by the current event (“I am an absolute loser because I am not able to fix the problem right now.”) → no stable self-perception because you keep viewing yourself differently in different situations</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Add positive thoughts and remind yourself of events in the past that went better! Example: ???
Add positive thoughts and remind yourself of events in the past that went better! Example: “It didn’t work out this time, but so what?”; “I’ve solved very tricky problems before, like that one time when I saved my sister’s hard drive.”
Resolving conflicts!

- Add positive thoughts and remind yourself of events in the past that went better! Example: “It didn’t work out this time, but so what?”; “I’ve solved very tricky problems before, like that one time when I saved my sister’s hard drive.”

- Discover something positive and make meaning of the situation!

  Example: ???
• Add positive thoughts and remind yourself of events in the past that went better! Example: “It didn’t work out this time, but so what?”; “I’ve solved very tricky problems before, like that one time when I saved my sister’s hard drive.”

• Discover something positive and make meaning of the situation!
  Example: “I’ll ask a friend for help who is very well versed in this area. In doing so, I will learn something new and be able to fix the problem myself next time (own abilities grow).”
Resolving conflicts!

- Add positive thoughts and remind yourself of events in the past that went better! Example: “It didn’t work out this time, but so what?”; “I’ve solved very tricky problems before, like that one time when I saved my sister’s hard drive.”

- Discover something positive and make meaning of the situation!
  Example: “I’ll ask a friend for help who is very well versed in this area. In doing so, I will learn something new and be able to fix the problem myself next time (own abilities grow).”

Caution! This is not about white-washing the situation – stay realistic:

Not everything is always just bad, even though it might seem so at first!
Discovering the positive! Exercise

Your event: A presentation is being rescheduled to an earlier date.

Thought: ???
Discovering the positive! Exercise

Your event: A presentation is being rescheduled to an earlier date.

Thought: “How is this ever going to work? I am already way too busy at the moment.”
Your event: A presentation is being rescheduled to an earlier date.

Thought: “How is this ever going to work? I am already way too busy at the moment.”

Positive aspects: ???
Discovering the positive! Exercise

Your event: A presentation is being rescheduled to an earlier date.

Thought: “How is this ever going to work? I am already way too busy at the moment.”

Positive aspects: “I’m being forced to hurry up with it and change my plans now, but on the positive side I’ll have it over and done with sooner, and next week I’ll have time for other things again.”
Discovering the positive!

Own examples: ???
Conclusion!

- Consciously look for positive aspects.
  What can you get out of a difficult situation?
- Crises also mean growth and change.
- Stay realistic, discovering the positive is not about pretending.

Find the shades of gray rather than thinking only in “black and white”!

“vol au vent…” by Biscarotte
New long-term studies show that, with the passage of time, many patients no longer meet the diagnostic criteria for a borderline personality disorder.

Though difficulties may continue in some areas of life, the symptoms mostly fade over time.
New long-term studies show that, with the passage of time, many patients no longer meet the diagnostic criteria for a borderline personality disorder.

Though difficulties may continue in some areas of life, the symptoms mostly fade over time.

It is possible to approach problems and to learn to deal with oneself and one’s difficulties in a new way.
Learning objectives:
Learning objectives:

- Even if it’s hard: Try to accept compliments!
Learning objectives:

- Even if it’s hard: Try to accept compliments!
- Practice looking for positive aspects of things in daily life.
Learning objectives:

- Even if it’s hard: Try to accept compliments!
- Practice looking for positive aspects of things in daily life.
- Try to see positive aspects in difficult events, too. What can you get out of the situation for your future?
Learning objectives:

- Even if it’s hard: Try to accept compliments!
- Practice looking for positive aspects of things in daily life.
- Try to see positive aspects in difficult events, too. What can you get out of the situation for your future?
- Caution: No white-washing, but no black and white thinking either!
Further questions?

???
Thank you for your attention!
Pictures used in this module are reproduced with indirect (creative commons license) or direct permission of the artists listed below, for which we would like to express our gratitude! A full list can be obtained via www.uke.de/MCT. If we have involuntarily breached copyright, please accept our apologies. In this case, we kindly ask creators for their permission to use their work under the "fair use" policy.

Die in diesem Modul verwendeten Bilder wurden mit der indirekten (creative commons Lizenz) oder direkten Zustimmung der untenstehenden Künstler reproduziert, wofür wir uns herzlich bedanken möchten! Eine vollständige Liste ist hinterlegt auf www.uke.de/MCT. Sollten wir unbeabsichtigt gegen das Urheberrecht verstoßen haben, so bitten wir dies vielmals zu entschuldigen und bitten nachträglich um die Verwendungserlaubnis.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name/Photographer/Artist</th>
<th>Source/Quelle</th>
<th>Picture Name/Name des Bildes</th>
<th>CC = used with corresponding creative commons license; PP = used with personal permission of artist</th>
<th>Description/Kurzbeschreibung</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Kt Ann</td>
<td>flickr</td>
<td>Stop Sign</td>
<td>CC = genutzt unter creative commons Lizenz, PP = verwendet mit persönlicher Zustimmung des Künstlers</td>
<td>Stop sign / Stoppschild</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>.reid.</td>
<td>flickr</td>
<td>thumbs up</td>
<td>CC</td>
<td>Thumbs up / Daumen hoch</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Qmononic</td>
<td>flickr</td>
<td>sad toronto blossoms</td>
<td>CC</td>
<td>Sad blossoms / Traurige Blumen</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Treehouse1977</td>
<td>flickr</td>
<td>Blossom4</td>
<td>CC</td>
<td>blooming flowers / Blühende Blumen</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alphauondomikron</td>
<td>flickr</td>
<td>Auge in Nahaufnahme</td>
<td>CC</td>
<td>Eye in close-up / Auge in Nahaufnahme</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>c.a.muller</td>
<td>flickr</td>
<td>JUMPING</td>
<td>CC</td>
<td>Jumping / Springende Menschen</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Biscarotte</td>
<td>http://www.flickr.com/photos/biscotte/489752654/lightbox/</td>
<td>vol au vent...</td>
<td>CC</td>
<td>Balloons / Luftballons</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>slopjob</td>
<td>flickr</td>
<td>high contrast power lines</td>
<td>CC</td>
<td>Power lines / Stromleitung</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>tmvogel</td>
<td>flickr</td>
<td>Harmony</td>
<td>CC</td>
<td>Harmony / Harmonie</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Midnightfun</td>
<td>flickr</td>
<td>Contrast</td>
<td>CC</td>
<td>Green door / Grüne Tür</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>